ready considering the matter but has recahed no determination.
Curbstone gossip here inclines strongly toward the final appointment of R. M. Bashford or ex-Attorney General L. M. Sturdevant, of Neillsville. With respect to Mr. Sturdevant it is recalled that for several years he was engaged with the late H. W. Chynoweth in prosecuting the important railroad suits to reincomplete and erroneous statements resignation of Commissioner Barnes of earnings. These statements, filed was filed. by the companies, annually, with the Senator Hudnall, although elected state railroad commissioner, were inmade up the reports. The litigation of this question formed a series of suits of great monetary importance and the state finally won. Another set of important cases of which Mr. Sturdevant had charge as attorney general grew out of the law of 1903, to tax the railroads on the ad valorem basis instead of according to the license fee or gross earnings system which had prevailed for twenty years. The state won also in these cases. Lawyers remark that although Mr. Sturdevant and Mr. Chynoweth served the state valuably in the recovery of the money involved in these suits.

Claimed the West Season and Late Spring is Responsible For This Condition of Affairs.

On account of the large amount of wet weather this summer the "crop of mosquitoes" in Janesville and vicinity has been unusually large and luxuriint. In fact, seldom before have these insects been so numerous and pesti ferous as this season. No exposed place is free from them and in localities where the land is low and marsh life is made miserable to every human being. They are no respectors of persons and attack everyone they can reach. It is observed that these diminutive flies are larger than ordinary and are very active this year. About the only comfort persons can take outof doors evenings is to get behind fine wire screens and many verandas of homes in the city and at the various summer resorts are completely enclosed with the netting. Smoke from fires seems to some effect in keeping the mosquitoes away and consequently a "smudge" is morning going north where it is rekept going as a safeguard. The sale of the long, slender sticks of incense manufactured by the Chinese has been heavy in this city this summer, as the odor of the burning compound seems to be effective in sending the insects to places where the atmosphere is not heavily laden with the peculiar perfume.

Some persons the bite of a mos quito does not bother to any great extent, while other persons are as much afraid of these skin-puncturing as of a snake, so painful and poisonous is the effect and so nerve-destroying is the constant buzzing and frequent sting. In Longfellow's Hiawatha Suggema, the mosquito, sang his war song" and he is doing it more than ever this year and is waging war with a vengeance.

It is not difficult to account for the presence of unusually large swarms of mosquitoes, or would flocks be a more suitable term on account of the size of these "birds"? The weather has been very favorable to mosquito breeding since early in the spring as there have been frequent rains. Mosquitoes place their eggs where the larvae will get water, for the larvae need stand ing water to develop. Therefore the marshes and cess-pols are the breeding places of the insects.

Besides mosquitoes there are unusually large numbers 'of dragon-flies which are known as mosquito hawks and feed upon mosquitoes. dragon-flies appear fat and healthy for they have plenty of food in the form of tempting morsels of "sket There also seems to be a vast fers.'' army of wasps this season and the gnats and flies in general have been more numerous than usual in conse quence of the wet season.

Bad Spots in Track Filled in With Gravel During Last Night's Rain.

Section foreman and section men of this city were kept busy last night putting gravel in bad spots along the tracks of both the North-Western and ts. Paul railroads in different directions from Janesville where the rain washed the dirt away from the road bed. The St. Paul track between Af-ton and this city was soft during and after the rain which compelled trains running over it to go slowly last night and this morning. The St. Paul track in places on either side of Calamine on the west end was soft, but trains could run over it all right this morning. The train was also soft in places around Juda which is on the Mineral Point division. A train loaded with gravel passed through here on the North-Western early this ported there was a bad washout.

Embankments Filled Up: Workmen have been busy filling in places along the St. Paul right of way on the new line south of this city where recent rains have washed dirt out of the embankments back to the fence lividing the railroad land from the private property. Rock, taken from a pit south of here, has been used to fill in the washed places where the water had gouged out the banks along the railroad cuts. .

St. Paul Road. Fireman Peter Clark received an injury in one of his feet while coming up this morning on the train from Rockford, caused by a piece of coal dropping on him. Fireman McAuliffe relieved him here.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to fiesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredlent with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredlent. I successfully treated many, many cases of Rhoumatism; buthow, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumaniate Blood seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend Physician Burned to Death and Fiancee Fatally Injured.

New York, July 22.-Dr. Edward J. Gallagher, a New York physician, was burned to death in an automobile accident on Long Island Sunday night, while his fiancee, who accompanied him, was fatally injured. Dr. Gallagher, accompanied by Miss Helen Madigan, was driving his machine over the Locust avenue crossing of the Long Island railroad in Jamaica, L. The machine was thrown a considerable distance and turned over upon its occupants. A moment later the gasoline tank exploded and shot the burning oil over the half stunned autoists. TRUSTS AND TRUST BUSTERS.

Through the smake and dust of the administration's battle with the tobacco trust, a glimpse at the attitude of the daily press is well worth while, for it proves the instability and inconsistency of many news organs that claim to reflect the thoughts and welfare of the populace, says the Tobacco Leaf of New York.

Newspapers who have constantly caricatured and criticised the lack of administrative action against unbridled monopolies for subscription list purposes, now present the amusing spectacle of throwing up their hands in holy horror. The Evening Mail, the Times, the Herald, the Telegraph, the Brooklyn Eagle, the World and, in fact, nearly all of our big local dailies, stand editorially aghast at the suggestion of a policy of action which they themselves have in effect urged with a great hue and cry and loud clamorings for the rights of "the common people." Even that self-glorified and self-styled chief of all trust-busting publications, the New York American (erstwhile Journal), dodged the question with a shrinking ten-line paragraph insinuating that it was just a ganization of the big company, was not averse to its dissolution. Oh, the humbuggery of it! The pettifogism; the hyprocrisy of it. Can the promoters of such journalism hope to stand for patriotism or sincerity before the reading masses? Not while the "m" is the initial letter if so, get busy and figure out how many tons of gold ore are crushed yearly by 22 mills with a capacity of 1000 tons a day each. The value in gold will average $50.00 per ton. All the mills are located on Clear Creek and have been crushing gold ore since 1859—that's 48 years. They have, and are still losing 30 per cent of all the GOLD THE ORE CONTAINS, it goes off into the creek with with the slime, and if you can devise a way to stop this loss of 30 PER CENT OF GOLD, YOU CAN MAKE A MILLION OF MORE. Now figure out how much lost gold is in the creek. It's 4 miles long and 300 feet wide. Our engineers claim the losses from mills are from 5 to 7 millions of fine gold. The only way to get this gold is to use steam shovel dredges and put the sand into tanks and cyanide the gold out. "It's queer how little most , people Religion, Appetite and Sensuality are, know about little things," said a quarrelsome man not long since. "Some day I am going to start a school where only the minutiae of life will be taught-how to button the coat when you put it on, how to brush a hat, and so on. Not one in a hundred persons knows it is a mistake to button the bottom of a coat first. The top button should be the first one, otherwise the shape of the coat, even if it is WANTED-A girl at St, Paul lunch room. carefully tailored, is seriously affected. This little pointer, alone would save many persons a lot of money. A hat should always be brushed in the direction opposite to the hands of wise tendencies and the cultivation of a clock. Otherwise the pile of the felt is taken out and the hat given a cheap, poor appearance. Of course, with straw this does not apply. In the care of paste, too, it is odd how little is known by most people. The best way to buy paste nowadays is in the water-well jars put up by all, large manufacturers. Then when such a jar is gotten keep the well always half full of water. If paste becomes hard, too, from lack of use stir it with a stick until it las proper consistency If obdurate add a little water. If still obdurate after this add a little glyc erin and water. Boxer, a handsome bay horse, was well known in Joliet for his powers of reason. A loose shoe had been annoying him for several days, and when his master turned him into the yard to graze, Boxer leaped the fence, trotted down street to the shop where he was regularly shod, and held up his hoof for the inspection of the astonished smith. After resetting the shoe the smith turned Boxer into the street and the intelligent animal returned to his pasture and his feeding as if the performance were an everyday occurrence.—Chicago Tribune.

JUDGE UNWILLING TO TRY AN INFANT

Wants Case of Willie Bandenberg, Charged With Assault and Bat-tery, Settled Out of Court.

Diminutive in size and voice, and in act almost infantile in appearance, Willie Brandenberg, the eleven-year-old son of W. C. Brandenberg, of 117 North Franklin street, bravely walked up to the bar of justice in municipal court this morning to answer to the charge of assault and battery, having admitted that in a childhood row he broke the arm of a little girl, the daughter of Mrs. Beck, who lives on Franklin street. As Attorney Edwin Curpenter appeared in the court room behalf of the prosecution District Attorney John L. Fisher withdrew from the case, which was started while he was busy in the Beloit court. Attorney John Cunningham has been retained by the defense. Judge Fifield questioned young Brandenberg concerning the trouble and the two attorneys stated that witness es refused to appear unless subpoened. Judge Fifield announced that he be-lieved the case should be settled out of court. He understood that the in-cident was an outgrowth of a neigh-borhood quarrel in which the parents of the two principals were engaged He thought the Brandenbergs should settle the doctor's bill for Mrs. Beck and that the proper apologies should appease her, unless it was proven that young Brandenberg continually tormented the little girl. In such a case he should be punished. The case was held open until Thursday morning at ton calculations the course steel.

WAGNER AT HIS BEST

Big Pittsburg Shortstop Batting. at: Fast Clip.

TEN HITS IN TWO GAMES.

The Bow Legged Teuton Is Now Averaging Over 320 With the Stick-How a New Uniform Made Hans Laughingstock of National League.

Hans Wagner, shortstop of the Pittsburg Nationals, stands out at present as one of the notable features of the baseball year. Wagner has never surpassed the class of work he is now doing. That statement in itself is a big testimonial as to his prowess.

Wagner's stick work has been particularly good this year. In two recent games he made five hits in five times at the bat. In another game he made four hits. His average is away up in the clouds. He has been batting over 320 most of the season:

When Pittsburg took four games from the Chicago Nationals a couple of weeks ago Wagner was very much in evidence. He became a veritable bogy man to the Windy City curve mixers. Hans beat the ball until it eried for help. Mordecui Brown, the celébrated three fingered Chicago pitcher, said: "The man that can fool Wagner when he wants to hit the ball can fool any man in America. He-knows almost every pitcher is afraid of him, and that helps him a whole lot. This thought gives him great confidence in himself."

Wagner is as strong as an ox. He is big and clumsy in appearance, yet, he is very speedy when in action and has a natural, easy style of play. Hislong reach enables him to gather in many a ball that at first seems sure to go past him into the outfield.

Wagner's parents are Germans, but Hans was born in America. He once

HANS WAGNER'S BATTING POSE. became the laughingstock of the entire National league, owing to a peculiar accident. He was playing in Cincinnati one day seven or eight years ago and was resplendent in a new uniform. Now, the tallor was a careless sort of chap, and he made the pants too tight. In consequence when Hans during the game put his hand in his pocket to take out a bar of tobacco he had trouble in getting the hand out. While struggling to release it the batsman popped up an easy fly near Hans. In, vain did he struggle to release the entrapped hand. The crowd and players almost lost control of their laughter at his predicament, and as a last resort Hans made a desperate lunge at the ball with his free hand, but he fumbled it, and the runner was safe. Hans always tries on his new uni forms now before playing in them.

Breanahan's Shin Guards Not the Firs

Used by a Catcher.

Reger Bresnahan, the New York Na tionals' big catcher, is not the first professional catcher to wear shin guards. The newspapers have been devoting considerable space to the shin guards and claiming they are an Innovation. They are not new in the Ohio and Pennsylvania league, for Fox, eatcher for Lancaster, Pa., last year with Mansfield, wore them under his stockings all season. Fox had been getting frequent knocks on the shins from foul tips and concluded the only way to stop it was to wear shin guards, The public seemed surprised every time Fox got a crack on the shin and he would smile. Ordinarily the blow would cause a catcher to limp for sev

THE ROUNDUP COLUMN.

West Evolves a Few Thoughts on Fistiana, and a Baseball Story. Never frame up a fight. Always be on the level, and confine your energies simply to getting your opponent to split the purse with you, sub rosa. In this way your conscience doesn't get hurt or suffer a shock, for, being a fighter of the usual modern type, you haven't any conscience.

Can you beat that for logic? And in addition by such an agree-

The only good fighter (to have for an opponent) is a dead one. Verily 'tis' thusly, for, be it said, these dead ones are yet alive. Their press agents tell the anxious seekers for the truth how better they are today than in the past, how stronger than a mountain lion they are. The seckers rush to the box office with their shekels, and a goodly array greeteth us from the five dollar sents. I let the dead one stay on his feet for one round and a quarter. Then I turn off the scenery and sidestep to the depot with my manager. He carries with difficulty a heavy bulging satchel.

Johnny Summers, the English scrappist, has been told that he must not be defeated by any one short of a real champion if he wants to stay in this country and fight.

The fate of some of his predecessors has been pointed out to him. Jack Palmer, Jabez White, etc., lasted but a brief while in this country. Summers however, is one of the best lads in his class that England has ever sent over Already he has "made good." He in no way resembles Bill Squires.

Summers is again matched with Tommy Murphy to box before the National national convention of the Elks is in session there.

Summers is confident that he can stop Murphy the next time they meet and will be in better condition than in the last bout, which was taken on a few weeks after he had landed in this.

The Dallas (Tex.) baseball team has an infielder named Starch. But he is not a stiff.

Every one knows that the Detroit team has a sneaking idea that it has a fine chance to land the pennaut rag, and every one knows also that Hughey Jennings surely has a fast bunch of ball players under his care.

To admit the facts would be confession that the French law's 75 mile per hour limit had been broken flagrantly by a special train in long spurts over the most important roadbed of France!

Let the dead, therefore, rest-after its all-records-breaking dash to catch an English boat.

·But is it not an awful picture—the impassive corpse alone in its car, crashing onward, faster, faster, to make the connection that will give it peace in its own hallowed home soil?

The peculiar incident has very much struck the Parisians, and all the more so as it illustrates the terrific speeds French railways are attaining writes Sterling Heilig in the New York Press. It was a special funeral train of two cars; quitting Paris a few minutes ahead of the "train de luxe;

That the other French companies lost no time in profiting by the example to improve their ballasting and substitute heavier rails is certain; but even on the most famous trunk line stretches there remain the numerous curves, grade crossings and facing points that would send an American engineer promptly into nervous pros-

S.S. OF MALARIA

Malaria is an atmospheric poison which we unconsciously breathe into our system. The blood in its constant passage through the lungs absorbs the germs, and they destroy the rich, red corpuscles of this vital fluid and reduce it to such a weak, watery condition that it is unable to properly nourish the system, and disease gets a foothold. Then the symptoms of Malaria, such as pale, sallow complexions, weak vitality, poor appetite, deranged digestion, and perhaps chills and fever show that the trouble is affecting every part of the body. Malaria also affects the liver, producing a chronic state of biliousness, and often a long spell of fever follows when the blood becomes fully contaminated with the poison. Chronic Sores and Ulcers, boils, aches and pains, and skin affections of various kinds often result from this insidious disease if the poison is allowed to accumulate in the blood in sufficient quantities. Malaria must be removed from the system through the circulation, and for this purpose nothing equals S. S. This great remedy goes down into the blood and drives out all germs, microbes and poisons, and permanently cures Malaria, S. HE library was the most important room in the Ryder mansion, for it was there that the Colossus carried through his most important business deals, and its busiest hours were those which most rest for any man who had a thousand millions of dollars to take care of.

Here the money Moloch held court like any king, with as much ceremony a career-surely you can appreciate that-for a young man with such prosand more secrecy, and having for his courtiers some of the most prominent pects as yours. Have you ever stopped men in the political and industrial life of the nation. Corrupt senators, grafting congressmen, ambitious railroad presidents, insolent coal barons who impudently claimed they administered the coal lands in trust for the Almighty, unscrupulous princes of finance and commerce, all visited this room to receive orders or pay from the head of the "system." Here were made and unmade governors of states, mayors of you can spare the time." cities, judges, heads of police, cabinet ministers, even presidents. Here were turned over to confidential agents millions of dollars to overturn the people's vote in the national elections. Here were distributed yearly hundreds of thousands of dollars to grafters, llarge and small, who had earned it in the service of the "interests." Here secretly and unlawfully the heads of railroads met to agree on rates which by discriminating against one locality in favor of another crushed out competition, raised the cost to the consumer and put millious in the pockets of the trust. Here were planned tricky financial operations with deliberate intent to mislead and deceive the investing public, operations which would send stocks soaring one day, only a week later to put Wall street on the verge of panic. Half a dozen suicides might result from the coup, but twice as many millions of profits had gone into the coffers of the "system." Here, too, was perpetrated the must beinous crime that can be committed against a free people-the conspiring of the trusts, abetted by the railroads, to arbitrarily raise the prices of the necessaries of life-meat, coal, oil, ice, gas-wholly without other justification than that of greed, which with these men was the unconquerable. all absorbing passion. In short, everything that unscrupulous leaders of organized capital could devise to squeeze the life blood out of the patient, defenseless toiler was done within these four walls.

When Jefferson entered, his father the's forty?" was seated at his desk, a long, black cigar between his lips, giving instructions to Mr. Bagley. HASEGAWA THINKS HE HAS CON-TROL OF SITUATION.

Japanese Ready to Blow Up Arsenals If Overpowered-New Emperor Orders Deputation Punished.

Scoul, July 22.-There was some outward improvement in the situation Sunday and Gen. Hasegawa, commander of the Japanese troops in Korea, withdrew one of the machine guns from palace square. He regards the situation as being well in hand.

The two government arsenals are guarded by Japanese soldiers, although the number is not large, and they are under orders to explode the magazines if they find themselves unable to defend them.

The Korean troops are frequently harangued by civilian agitators who take up their stand at the entrances to the barracks. The Koreans possess 90,000 rounds of ammunition, of which Gen. Hasegawa, who has only 2,300 troops in Seoul, has been un able to demand the surrender.

The Ping Yang regiment, which was reported Saturday as having been disarmed, still refuses to surrender its arms or ammunition.

The Japanese commander is not yet able to assure safety in the streets, but he is making the best use possible of his men, while awaiting reinforcements, which are now on their way from Shimonoseki.

Marquis Ito, the resident general at Seoul, will not consent to the enforcement of martial law, but he is regarrisoning the country as far as possible as a precaution.

The new emperor's first edict orders the punishment of the Korean deputation to The Hague.

Saturday there was much street fighting and several Japanese were killed.

Friday night the deposed emperor attempted a coup d'etat. He ordered the imperial guards to seize the palace, murder the cabinet ministers, and replace him on the throne. Marquis Ito learned of this just in time. Gen. Hasegawa at once marched his troops into the palace, making the deposed emperor a prisoner and planting machine guns at every entrance to the nalace.

The opinion that the natives of Australia are dying out is not shared by J. W. Gregory, who writes in the Globus that the present population is estimated at 153,000, which is 3,000 more than the estimated number two centuries ago.

SUPPLICATION OF REPORTER AN-SWERED.

Remarkable Incident That Started Humble Newspaper Man on Road to Fame-Told of Prince

Consort's Death.

Newspaper "scoops" are, usually, of little account in the journalistic world of England. Yet it was a "scoop" and a most remarkable one which gave Thomas Catling, the veteran London editor, his first step up the ladder.

Mr. Catling, after half a century of work on Lloyd's Weekly London News, has resigned and left active journalism on the first of the year. lie was succeeded by Robert Donald, managing editor of the Daily Chroni-

Mr. Catling's memorable "scoop" was no less than the announcement of the death of the prince consort, Queen Victoria's husband. It occurred on a Saturday evening, just 45 years

The prince consort was ill, but his death was not expected. There were no reportors at Windsor castle excepting Catling. Douglas Jerrold was then editing Lloyd's. He wanted a report on the condition of the prince's illness, but there were few news agencles in those days and his staff of reporters were busy. So Jarrold drew on the composing room and because of his smart and active look, selected young Catling, then one of the compositors, to go down to Windsor. Mr. Catling, in telling the story himself, says that when he reached Windsor it was nearly dark and raining. He walked to the castle and, of course was refused admission.

There was no one at the main gates who would or was authorized to give him information. He wandered about in the rain for a couple of hours, prowling around the outskirts of the castle, hoping something would turn Wet, cold, miserable, realizing that he had dismally failed on his first assignment, Catling determined to walk once more around the castle be fore going Londonward. He offered up a little prayer, bareheaded in the rain, asking for help in his need.

That prayer was quickly answered The guard had just been changed and, as Catling passed one of the solitary sentries at a little wicket gate, he observed that the man was in tears. In reply to a question the man said word had just been taken to the guardroom that the prince consort had passed Catling got hurriedly such particulars as the sentry knew and was then off to London. He reached the Lloyd's News office shortly after midnight. The paper published the story and "scooped" every paper in the world. The death was only "unofficially" anneunced by England some hours later.

The composing room saw Catling no more. He was at once given a position on the editorial staff and five years later was promoted second in command, or chief sub-editor, as it is called in England. Eighteen years, later he was appointed to the editorship which he has held ever since.

A Woman on Women.

For selfishness and inconsideration. commend me to a woman traveling, says the Saturday Evening Post. She will deliberately occupy two seats in a street car; see other women stand, laden with bundles, without offering to move up, and otherwise try to prove to everybody with eyes in their heads that they, these women, have no manners at all.

Yet, if you called at the houses of such women, I have no doubt in the world that you would be courteously received; their best would be at your disposal, and you would otherwise discover that they had some claim to the title of ladies-but never from their manners in public.

And, far from displaying good manners themselves, many women are incapable of appreciating good manners in others. If a well-bred woman does move up to make room for a standing woman, how often is the first woman thanked? Sometimes not even a bow or a glance is given!

Ask men how often they are thanked (once in 20 times) for giving their seats in a car to women.

Loss of a Good Thing. Formerly a telephone had stood on the bracket in the corner. The bracket had been made expressly for the 'phone. It had been so exceedingly convenient to call up her friends that the woman immediately noticed the change; for on the bracket in place of the telephone stood a statuette that she didn't much care for. ."What have you done with it?" she asked of them. "The company tried to collect the bill," they said. "I am sorry," the woman sighed, because at that moment she thought of about a dozen to whom she would have liked to telephone. "So are all our friends," said they pointedly.

What He Missed.

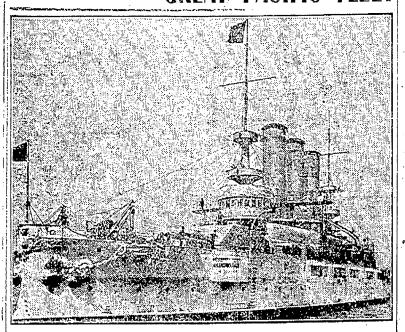

One of the officials of the Indian office at Washington was visiting a reservation in Montana on government business when a certain chief, who had taken a fancy to Uncle Sain's agent, invited him to attend the wedding of the Indian's daughter. The Indian office man was, to his regret, unable to be present at the festivities. but the Indian laconically described the function subsequently, in order to indicate what the agent had missed "Five dogs," said the chief, "and plenty pie."—Harper's Weekly.

LAST DAYS OF GREAT POETS.

Bliss Perry Writes of the Passing of Thomas Bailey Aldrich.

On the day when he last entered the Atlantic office, in January, Mr. Aldrich seemed, for the first time, to have grown old. One of his friends spoke of it as he went out. Up till that morning, the weight of 70 years had scarcely seemed to touch erect, jaunty figure. The lines that time had written around his clear blue eyes and firm mouth conveyed no hint of senility. His hair was scarcely gray. His voice, slightly husky in its graver, sweeter tones, rea delicious youthful crispness as it curled and broke, wave-like, into flashing raillery. He had just completed his poem for the Longfellow centenary, his first verse after some years of silence, and when it was praised to his face-for who could help praising it? he blushed with Yet he had pleasure like a boy. passed three-score and ten, and the shadow, invisible as yet and quite unheralded, was drawing very near .--Bliss Perry, in Atlantic.

His First Trousers. Little Tommy was at Sunday school in his first pair of trousers, and a picture of a lot of little angels was before the class. "Tommy, would you like to be a little angel?" asked the teacher, "No, ma'am," replied Tommy after a careful inspection of the pic-"Not to be an angel, Tommy? Why not?" inquired the teacher in surprise. "Cause, ma'am, I'd have to give up my new pants."

away. Old materials, old colors, old ideas may still be used, but they must enter into calculation rather as accescories to be a combination with new suggestions than as a whole. The spirit of change is abroad in the land, and it makes itself felt nowhere more potently than in dress. We may wear last season's clothes, but not as they were, and to the economically inclined this must be a season of pure delight; for the old things never lent themselves so adaptably to refurbishing as now, and here the popular silks are their salvation. It is the exception when a gown of silk itself is not trimmed with a silk of another weave, if not of a different color. Taffeta is used rather for ornamental purposes than as entire costumes, except in. black, which is as popular as ever.

The majority of silks are figured, yet plain weaves are, strictly speaking, just as good. Satin duchesse, which has been on the market for many acons, is heralded as a novelty. for coat suits, and those of its construction are indeed very smart. For: this purpose, both colors and black are in order.

Tuscan, shantung, tussah, rajah, and mirage, all are popular for day and. evening costumes, for coat suits, for formal or informal occasions, for separate coats or for entire suits. They require but little trimming, draper gracefully, wear well, and altogether. possess those qualities which go to: make up a satisfactory spring fabric.

The mother of the king of Portugal is said to have been bankrupted; through her passion for dress. The king has virtually banished her to co should still be preserved wherever that haunting air "La Paloma" is, played. It is still to be heard in the London restaurants where music is thrown in with dinner. And Maximilian's final request was that "La Paloma" should be played while he stood up to meet his doom. He died with the tune in his ears-the courage in his face-and his wife went mad with the shock nearly 40 years ago.

"Come on down town, Grace." "But I have no money." "What's the diff? Two can shop as cheaply as one."-Pittsburg Post.

Self-Restraint for Motorists.

Much has been done, but much remains to be done, to bring home to some motorists the need there is for self-restraint and resistance, to the temptation to act in selfish disregard of the comfort of others.-The Car.

Spencer Not Orthodox.

The dean of Westminster has refused to admit a memorial tablet which was dedicated to Herbert Spencer, on the ground that he was not orthodox in his Christian belief.
